

The Arch Dalrymple III Department of History Summer Writing Fellowship

The goal of the Summer Writing Fellowships is to support timely degree completion. The fellowships amounts to $3,500. The award of this fellowship implies an understanding that recipients will finish a complete draft of their dissertation/thesis by the end of the award period, and that as a consequence they will receive no additional Dalrymple awards for research purposes.

Eligibility: Only graduate students nearing the completion of a dissertation or thesis.

Application: Applicants fill out the attached form (1). Dissertation/thesis advisers must fill out form (2) and submit it directly to the Dalrymple committee. Both forms must be submitted by February 1.

Conditions: Graduate students who accept this fellowship cannot accept other employment from the university for the duration of the award.
